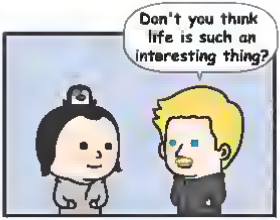
The news was about another maths teacher called 'C' who shares a class with Mev.

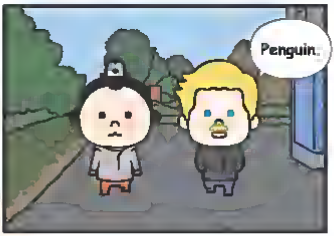
C went to Buckingham Palace to meet the Queen.



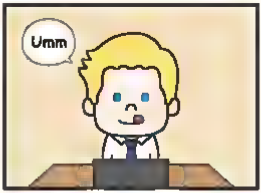
The story goes back to a few weeks ago, when Mev was looking at the college website at work.

Something on the news caught his eye.

Life Life



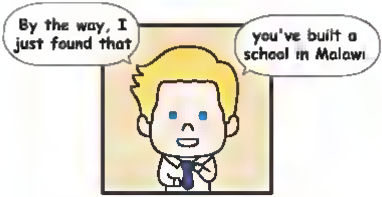
One day, while we were walking down the street, Mev said



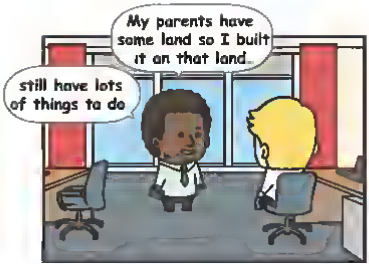
Mev was wondering why he was invited to the palace so he searched about it on the internet.

Then he found that C has built a school in his home country, Malawi in Africa.

When Mev had just finished searching about him, C came to Mev to ask him something.

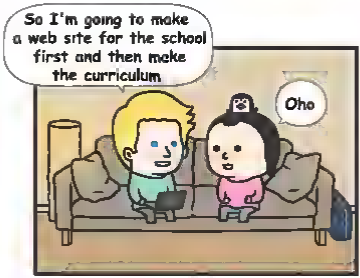


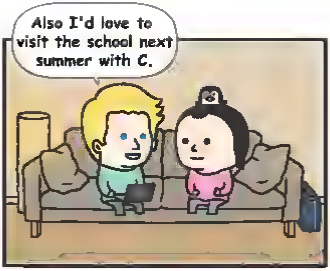
So they started to talk about the school in Malawi.



After they talked about it,...

C suggested that Mev help him with the school.





Mev took the suggestion and started to work with C on the school.

Back to the time when Mev talked about life.

Mev continued.

Of course I know
You ashed me if I wanted to live in Africa whenever you had a chance to ask me
Hehe

I think it's amazing that right after I'd found out about
C and the school,
C came to my seat.
Then he asked for my help so I work
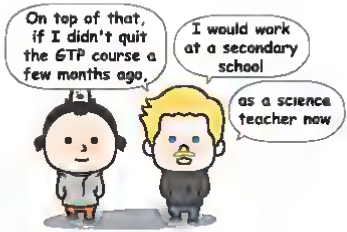
for the school now



On top of that, if I didn't quit the GTP course a few months ago,
I would work at a secondary school
as a science teacher now

Then this wouldn't have happened!

You know that we were worried
when I dropped out from the course.

But just a few months later, now
I've finally started to do something that I really wanted to do for a long time

After I heard what Mev told me, this idea came into my head

There are many boxes that we need to open while we walk on the road called life.

It would be great if there was only lots of happiness in those boxes.

But sometimes,
when we open a box after we choose a road on a fork,...

... sadness, disapointment,
failure or regret there is something that mahes us unhappy

But the road still goes on

And when we open another box one day,...

... something that we have always waited for and dreamt about might be in the box, like fate.

So even if something bad is happening right now, I don't need to worry about it too much.

Because there might be a box filled with the biggest happiness on the road that we are still walking on.
